THE STAW-BOND CASES.

A Question of Veracity With Colonel Bllias.

The hearing of the straw-bond cases was re-numed by Judge Snell yesterday afternoon. A.M. Gibson, the slanderer, appeared as an assistant counsel for the Government. The employment of THIS BIRED DEFAMIN

s a disgrace to the Government and an insult to is a disgrace in the Government and an insult to the people. Mrs. Cabell, wife of Captain Cabell, appeared in court voluntarily.

Mr. Hine, of counsel for the defense, presented a certified check for the amount of Mr. Cabell's bonds ($2,000), which was accepted by the court. Judge Sueil remarked in reply to Colonel Bliss's inquiry whether Jackson, one of the defendants, had been arrested, that no return to the warrant had yet been made. The question of the admissibility of the bids and The question of the admissibility of the bids and soutracts made by Cabell with reference to a large number of routes, on the necompanying bonds for which the other defendants, J. N. Minuix and C. H. Dickson, qualify as sureties, occupied the time of the Court for nearly half of the day's session. After considerable discussion pro and con, in which the defence had considerably the best of it, the bids and contracts, though regarded as of

LITTLE RELEVANCY AS EVIDENCE, were admitted by the Court. The only witnesses examined were Messrs, Graham and Welsster, setartes public of this city. They identified about a dozen bids and contracts, for identification only and notes evidence.

Prior to adjournment Mr. Williams inquired whether the ball of W. W. Jackson ($5,000) and of M. K. Armstrong ($15,000) could not be reduced to a reasonable figure, as was done in Cabell's ease?

Judge Shell declined to set upon the matter ntil the parties were present in court.

The court then adjourned until to-day.

The Night Arrests.

"Mr. Blies remarked, in reply to the published statements charging that these arrests had been purposely made at night, that he set the warrants at Poice these journess at 215 o'clock, and if the parties were not arrested till night it was not he fault of the court. Judge Sneil said that the court was not responsible for the manner and time of arrest. The cases were adjourned to one o'clock to day,"—Sor last night.

The above extract is taken from last night's Sur.
Coming from the source it does, its authority is not concluded for—of course not. Did Mr. Bliss make the above statement he lies, and in using the word it is used advisedly. On the day in question, January 6, Mr. B'iss did not leave the warrants at Police Headquarters; Mr. Bliss did not leave them there at 215 o'clock; in fact, Mr. Bliss did not go there at all. So much for fiction; now for facts: Mr. Bliss left instructions about two o'clock on that day to have the warrants issued. Captain Prince proceeded to make them out, and, as they were lengthy documents, it took him some time. Now, the plan followed with the issuance and serving of warants is that when they are made out they are placed in the hands of Deputy Marshal Revells, of the Police Court, who takes them to Police Headquarters. They are then served some time during the following day. Captain Prince was aware that earlier in the day a consultation had been held between Judge Suell and. Bliss in regard to these cases and telephoned to Bilss asking him if the warrants were to be served that evening. Bliss telephoned back, "Yes." Word was then sent to Major Brock to have all the detertives at headquarters and have the warrants served that evening. The warrants did not reach the hands of the detectives until nearly five o'clock, it took a little while to sort them out, and then the detectives started out to serve them. These are facts, Bilss or no fillss. The very fact of Bilss orlering these warrants to be served at night shows his mean, petty, contemptible spirit.

COLONEL DUDLEY'S VIEWS

Expressed Before the House Invalid

Pensions Committee. The House Committee on Invalid Pensions met esterday and authorized a favorable report to be ande to the House on the resolution introduced by Mr. Browne, of Indiana, calling on the Secretary of the Interior for an estimate of what appropriation will be necessary, annually, under certain ouditions, heretofore published, to pay pension during the next five years.

Commissioner Dudley addressed the committee on the subject of Indian pensions. He thought the payment of pensions to Indians should be made in silver dollars. These pensions are paid made in silver dollars. These pensions are paid to the Cherokees, Creeks, and Seminoles at the Knoxville, Tenn., agency. The custom heretofore has been to make the payment by means of checks, which have been very heavily discounted. It was suggested that the agent at Topeka, Kan., be directed to pay these pensions instead of the agent at Knoxville, Tenn., Topeka being a much more convenient point. Colonel Budley was authorized by the committee to prepare a bill embodying his suggestions.

The Commissioner also spoke of the present sys-tem of payment to inmates of soldiers' homes. He referred to the abuse of the rules which permit inmates leaving the homes, after contracting large debts, return and demand from the government the payment of their pensions. The members of trix. the committee discussed this subject briefly, and were all of opinion that the defect in the law uld be remedied without delay.

Colouel Dudley then called attention to the matter of insane and invalid pensionsers, and recom-mended the concernent of a provision which would admit of the payment of such pensions to widows admit of the payment of ster pensions to widows or orphain. On this subject the committee will recommend legislation providing that when the children have resided with and been supported by the widow of the soldier the pension to the children shall commence from the date of the last payment to the widow. It was resolved that legal marriage must be proved in order to estab-lish a widow's right to a pension, and that adult-erous cohabition—shall terminate a pension from the date of commencement and continuance thereof. The question as to what shall constitute marriage being raised, it was decided that proof of cohabitation as man and wife shall be sufficient to eure payment of an estopped pension. Colonel Dudley informed the committee that he had issued instructions for the establishment of medical boards at places about forty miles apart throughout the country, where pensioners will be required to ar pear and exhibit their claims and

On the subject of reducing the examination fee from $2 to $1 Colonel Dudley said that, in his pinion, it was not advisable, as the fee was al-eady too small to make it an inducement to any eputable physician to be a member of an exam-

He recommended that pension agents be furnished official envelopes, which will permit them to conduct their official correspondence free of

Before adjourning the committee determined to ask the House to discharge the Committee on Accounts from further consideration of the subject of additional clerkships to this committee.

GARFIELD MONUMENT

To Be Erected by the Army of the Cumberland.

Senator Harrison, in behalf of the Committee on Military Affairs, has submitted to to the Senate an interesting report on the bill which directs the Secretary of War to deliver to the Society of the Army of the Cumberland a number of pieces of ondemned brouze caunon to aid in the erection of a statue or monument to General Garfield. The committee report that they find on inquiry of the Secretary of War that all the condemned material of the character described in the bill new on hand, or likely to be available for a long time, has already been appropriated by acts of Congress to the erection of other monuments to some of our litustrious dead. They proceed, however, to say:
"Your committee believe that when appropriations have been made of bronze cannon for the erection of statues or monuments the material thus appropriated has seldom, if ever, been actuary to sell the material or to exchange it for other more suitable for the work, and while the dject of the bill cannot be accomplished by the assage of it in its present shape, the committee believe that it is eminently proper that the aid which has so often been given to such objects should not be withheld in the case of one so worthy of enduring remembrance as Gueral James A. Garfield. The committee believe that the assistance asked may be given in a way not practically different from that which has prevailed in these cases, viz, by anthorizing the Secretary of War to pay over to the proper officer of the society, out of the proceeds of the sales of condenned ordance or ord-

A HANDSOME IMPROVEMENT.

Messra. Emnaburgh & Hrother's Confem-plated New Store on Seventh Sircet. Every new building erected in a city is an indi-cation of its prosperity, and the number and character of its stores is a criterion of its business inrease. In no city has there been such rapid im-provement in elegant business establishments rithin the past ten years as Washington, When Governor Shepherd built the store on the south side of Pennsylvania avenue, between Ninth and Tenth streets, which is now occupied by the and tenth streets, which is now occupied by the Columbian Hank-Noie Company, he was considered extravagant for creeting an establishment costing so much money. Since then nearly all the stores upon the morth side of that square have been remodeled or new ones creefed. A business man does not enlarge his establishment or build a new one unless the increase of his custom demands additional heelities; so when a store is enlarged it is evidence of the

PROSPERITY OF ITS OCCUPANT.

Of the various classes of business in this city, the dry goods trade has perhaps cujcyed the greatest increase; and of the dry goods dealers none have been more successful than the Messra. Lamsburgh & Brother, 401 and 405 Seventh street. They already occupy two stores, but even these accommodations are found to be insufficient to free the demands of their constantly increasing trade. Consequently they have determined to obtain more commoditus quarters, and have leased from Mrs. Louise Kloman the piece of ground on Seventh street, just howe their present house, now occupied by the three separate stores of Messra. Gusdorf, Kneessi, and Poteron, which will all be form down and an immense building be exceted having a frontage of 58 feet and a depth of 100 feet. PROSPERITY OF ITS OCCUPANT.

The first floor will be the general sales-resum, where the stock will be more varied and compilete even than in their present house. The second floor will be used as a show-room for cloaks and ready-made garments. The third floor will be employed as a surplus stock room, and the fourth floor will be occupied as a work room. The plans for the new building are by Mesars. Gluss & Schultze, and the appoinments will be complete in every respect. There will be one passenger and one freight elevator; steam heating apparatus will be placed in the building, and every modern improvement will be utilized.

It is expected that the work of demolishing the old buildings will be esumenced in a few weeks, and that the new establishment will be ready for occupancy about the 1st of next September.

THE IMPORTERS! TEA COMPANY.

tor Raff-No Law Violated. A great injustice has been done the Importer Tea Company of New York, who have recently opened a store in this city. They give presents to every purchaser of a can of tea. Before they scated here they consulted with Mr. Riddle, the attorney for the District, to know whether their business would conflict with any existing law. He told them that he thought not, and advised them to go ahead. Yesterday Inspector Raff, an em-ployee of the District government, had them ar-rested for violation of the law against lotteries. They were arrigined in the Jaw against lotteries. They were arrigined in the Police Court, when Mr. Raff and the attorney for the District desired a postponement for a week, but the gentlemen of the company, conscious of having violated no law, were desirous of at one proceeding with the case. It was shown that this company was conducting a business similar to that of

SEVERAL OTHER BUSINESS HOUSES several other business houses in the city. After further argument the Court deferred his decision until Tuesday. The action of Raff, who has made himself unpleasantly prominent of late in such matters, is open to the gravest criticism, and has the appearance of being actuated by personal feeling. There was no cause for his interference with a legitimate business, and if it was contrary to law he has shown himself to be derelict in his duty in not putting a stop to the business that has been conducted for some time in this city by other parties. It is no new enterprise, and it is an outrage to subject these business men to the annoyance and expense of an appearance in court on such a charge.

Reception
days are a regular institution in Washington, and must be observed by those who eare for social dis-tinction. One of the distinguishing marks of a lady is the care with which she supplies herself with gloves, laces, flowers, and triminings for such occasions. The greatest skill is necessary in the selection of these articles that they harmonize with goods, colors, complexion, style, and more especially the particular occasion on which they are to be worn. The Palais Royal has the most complete stock of these goods in the city, and ladies can be sure of being suited.
